Tariff Filing Requirements
for Nondominant Common Carriers

Dear Sirs:

In response to Notice of Proposed Rulemaking released February 19, 1993, I would like to submit to you an observation from my company's point of view. When I started work here in 1983 there were two mobile communications carriers in this area--our own Radio Common Carrier and TELCO's IMTS system. At that time this company was as close to market domination as we have ever been.

Since then with the explosion in the communications industry, our "dominance" has steadily dwindled and today in this area there are no less than eight (8) different carriers competing for the same communications business. In 1986 the decision was made that our RCC no longer needed to file tariffs. That was reasonable and good due to the changing conditions. Now, in 1993, we're told that we will start filing tariffs again. We do not need this regulation. Our rates are already regulated by our current market situation and the fierce competition therein. Our profit margins are not near what they used to be and this is just another totally unnecessary expense and headache for us. If you're interested in putting another nail in our coffin, this is a real good step. But I would much prefer that you refund our filing fee, do away with the tariff filing, and let us go on with our important business.

We are competing with cellular and SMR who are not saddled with the same compliance rules as RCC, but we're supposed to maintain a profitable business, while operating at a severe disadvantage.

Sincerely

Joe Alexander
